National Jaycees Go Overtime In Vote Deadlock

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., June 18 (Special)—Delegates to the 34th annual convention of the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce still had not selected their next president late tonight.

JACK HOWARD

But, W. L. (Jack) Howard, of Monroe, was still being pushed as Louisiana's nominee for the national post. He came to Colorado Springs to oppose E. Lamar Buckner, of Ogden, Utah.

The winner in the balloting here will succeed Dain Domich, of California. Domich's successor will take office July 1.

Eighteen delegates from Monroe went to the national convention. More than one hundred delegates comprised the Louisiana delegation.

Howard, a Monroe businessman, came to the national convention with the endorsement of 12 states before he left Monroe. However, he has gained considerable strength since his arrival.

One Monroe Jaycee expressed a possibility that the balloting "may go on until late Saturday morning." He recalled that due to a deadlock of delegates in the 1950 convention ballots were cast until 1 a.m. before a choice was made.

The Jaycees select a national president in the same manner United States presidential nominee is selected at a party convention.

Howard was a charter member of the Greenville, Texas, Junior Chamber of Commerce before moving to Monroe in 1946. He joined the Monroe-West Monroe Jaycees shortly after coming to Monroe and six months later was elected to the board of directors. Since that time he has served eight times, taking time out only to serve as president of the state organization.

Twice he was elected chapter president, the only man to serve two consecutive terms in this office.

In 1950, Howard was elected president of the Louisiana Jaycees and launched the first "Democracy versus Communism and Socialism" project on a statewide basis. On this issue he worked with other Jaycees to raise the funds to finance it, received 100 per cent chapter participation and gained national newspaper, radio and mag-

Teenagers Held In Knife Holdup Of Monroe Man

An 18-year-old Monroe youth was in Ouachita parish jail last night charged with simple robbery in connection with a knife-point holdup of a Monroe motorist early Friday, and his 16-year-old companion awaited juvenile action on similar charges.

Monroe detectives and juvenile authorities said Joe Swaggart, 18, and the younger boy were arrested at their homes little more than 12 hours after L. G. High reported that two knife-wielding youths robbed him of $20 at 1:30 a.m. Friday.

High told police that the robbery took place after he had picked up two apparently teen aged hitchhikers at Louisville and Fourth streets. At the boys' request he began driving south toward the Winnsboro road, with one youth in the rear seat and the other in front. After passing DeSiard street the boy seated next to High placed the point of a knife to the driver's side and demanded to see High's billfold.

The victim complied when he sensed a second knife at his neck. He said the wallet contained a $20 bill.

High said the boys made him drive down South Second street to Bob's Drive-In, which is near the intersection of the Winnsboro road, and told him to drive in there.

He did so, the police report said, and the youth in front ordered a package of cigarettes, paying for them with the $20 bill.

Then they forced High to drive them out the Winnsboro road near its intersection with Buck Jones Lane, had him stop the car, and got out. They fled through a nearby field.

High drove to the police station and reported the incident to police, who began an immediate investigation.

5 U. S. Air Force Members Held By Indo-China Reds

SAIGON, June 18—Five U. S. Air Force men were captured by Communist troops Monday at a beach near the Tourane air base on the east-central coast of Indo-China, the American embassy here announced Friday.

The first known U. S. servicemen lost in Indo - China, they were seized as they prepared to go swimming. Still in their bathing trunks, they were marched away apparently unharmed by Viet Minh soldiers armed with sub-machine guns.

The embassy withheld the names of the men until their kin could be notified.

They were among the 50 Air Force technicians stationed at Tourane to service and repair American-made planes flown by the French against the Communist rebels.

By an irony of war, a majority of the group were shifted recently from the Red River delta, threatened with a Communist offensive, to this safer haven 260 miles south of Hanoi and 75 miles northeast of Saigon.

Maj. Gen. John W. O'Daniel, chief of the U. S. military session in Indo-China, flew from Saigon to Tourane Friday to direct an inquiry into the capture of the men.

U. S. officials refused to say what if anything was being done to find the prisoners or negotiate with the Communists for their release.

Fear was voiced that the Reds would seize upon the incident to make propaganda capital pitched on ostensible proof of U. S. "intervention" in the Indo-China war.

The five prisoners set out in a French automobile from the Tourane air base between 2 and 3 p. m. Monday for the lonely beach three miles distant.

A native said he saw them frisking on the beach and firing their carbines into the waves preparatory to their plunge.

Then the Viet Minh troops appeared. Several Red battalions ranged the mountains veering steeply from the shore along that stretch of the Annam coast.

Whether the Americans had a chance to put up resistance was not known, but the skimpy information indicated that they were unharmed.

Bathing Suits In Spain Regulated

MADRID, June 18—UP—The government Friday reminded law enforcement agencies that its long-time ban on "indecorous" bathing attire still was in effect, and applied equally to Spanish and foreign holidaymakers.

All hands will have to conform to the regulations. They called for one-piece bathing suits with skirts for women, and tops with swimming trunks for men.

Mendes-France Asks Nation's Moral Support

Seeks To Form Cabinet Quickly; Going To Geneva

PARIS, June 18 (AP) — Pledged to win peace in Indochina in a month or resign, Premier Pierre Mendes-France broadcast to the nation tonight an appeal for moral support.

The time has come, he said, "to rid ourselves of our incredulities, of our divisions, of our timidities."

The 47-year-old son of a Jewish manufacturer of women's clothing, Mendes-France recorded the two-minute speech at his home for broadcast on the French national network after a day of interviewing prospective ministers for his new Cabinet.

It was generally believed he would act as his own foreign minister and might go to Geneva on Monday to carry on direct negotiations with the Communists for peace in Indochina.

His appearance at the Geneva Conference could give an unpredictable turn there to the negotiations, and could result in concessions which the United States would be unable to accept.

A former air force lieutenant, who was jailed by the Vichyites, during the war only to escape and fly many bomber missions over Germany, Mendes-France won confirmation as premier last night. The National Assembly vote was 419 to 47 with 154 abstentions. His supporters included the Communists—whose votes he did not need—a big bloc of DeGaullists, Socialists and his own Radical Socialists (moderates).

In his short broadcast tonight he gave no further hints on his policy which includes a new program for economic recovery and a new effort to reconcile differences in France over ratification of the European Defense Community which would rearm Germany.

But he spoke of the gravity of his feeling "because I must accomplish a task of peace that a large vote of the National Assembly has just confided in me, in your name, for you and for our children."

He said that it was an immense task and that he would "devote all my energy to it."

No one in Mendes-France's entourage was able to say whether he would be able to announce his Cabinet tonight, although he apparently had hoped to do so.

One difficulty was that the Socialist Executive Committee is opposed to any of the party members joining his government although the Socialists voted for his confirmation. The Popular Republican Movement (MRP) also has announced that it will not take part in the government. Mendes-France was reported to have offered two ministries to the MRP and three to the Socialists, but was turned down by both groups.

This meant that Foreign Minister Georges Bidault, who has represented France at Geneva, would be out of office. The MRP, in the person of Bidault and Robert Schuman, has held the foreign ministry almost continuously since the war.

Duke Gets Third Life Sentence For Three Deaths

CLINTON, Tenn., June 18 (Special)—A Bastrop man now serving two life sentences for the slaying of his estranged wife's parents, Thursday was given a third life sentence in the death of a brother-in-law.

Robert G. Duke, 38, who was convicted earlier for the fatal shooting of his wife's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Barker, in their Oak Ridge apartment, was sentenced Thursday in the death of John P. Stephens, 39, who was wounded in the same lethal burst of gunfire.

Stephens died April 8 in an Oak Ridge hospital.

At the earlier trial, Duke's wife testified that he whipped out a pistol and began shooting because the Barkers "tried to break us up." Duke at one time operated a restaurant in Bastrop.

Registration Of Cerebral Palsied Opens Here Today

An all-day registration clinic for cerebral palsied children in northeast Louisiana will begin at 9 a.m. today at Central Grammar School, and parents of afflicted children have been requested to attend.

The clinic, according to J. Y. Pipes, president for the United Cerebral Palsy Association of north Louisiana, is designed to provide an accessible census of palsied children in this area. Pipes explained that the survey will allow a thorough study of actual needs for facilities to properly treat the disease.

Today's clinic is for parents only, Pipes said, but the patients themselves will be asked to attend a similar clinic following the current survey. The clinic closes at 5 p.m. today.

Parents are further requested to have available for clinic files all pertinent data concerning the child victims including age, sex, telephone number of parents.

Racket Buster In Alabama Is Fatally Shot

Demo Nominee For Attorney General Is Assassinated

PHENIX CITY, Ala., June 18 (AP) — Albert L. Patterson, who won Alabama's Democratic nomination for attorney general on an anti-vice platform, was shot to death tonight.

Patterson, former state senator, was attorney for the Russell County Betterment Association, which has been fighting racketeering in Phenix City for many years.

He was certified June 10 as the Democratic nominee for attorney general over Lee (Red) Porter, Gadsden attorney.

After his nomination was certified, Patterson announced he would fight any organized rackets in the state that came to his attention.

Phenix City Police Chief Pal M. Daniel said Patterson apparently was sitting in his car, parked in an alley at the side of the building housing his offices in downtown Phenix City when he was shot.

He was dead on arrival at Cobb Memorial Hospital at 9:0 p.m.

Patterson was shot twice in the mouth at close range. Powder burns were found on his upper lip and nose.

One bullet passed through his head while the other lodged in his mouth, Dr. Clyde M. Knowles, hospital chief of staff, said.

The bullets appeared to be small caliber.

Attorney John Patterson, his son and law partner, examined his father's body and said:

"Fine people we have here."

He asked if his father had spoken on the way to the hospital, but the ambulance drivers said no.

Knowles told him persons present when he was found said the lawyer had tried to talk but was unable to.

Chief Daniel said Patterson apparently had gotten out of his car after being shot and walked about 25 feet down the alley to the front of a dress shop, where he fell down. He was found lying face down on the sidewalk.

Ross L. Gibson, a cook, told Chief Deputy Sheriff Albert Fuller

Senate Group To Probe Dishonesty In Housing Deals

WASHINGTON, June 18 (AP)—The Senate Banking Committee today set June 28 for the start of what Chairman Capehart (R-Ind) said may be a public recital of "downright crookedness" in connection with the government's vast housing programs.

Slated as leadoff witness in the open hearings, which have been building for months, is William F. McKenna, special housing scandal sleuth for the Eisenhower administration.

Capehart told a news conference that the questioning of apartment house builders and sponsors behind closed doors already has produced "a lot of evidence and points in the direction of collusion" among some of the builders, government housing appraisers and other officials.

The committee chairman has said that builders and contractors diverted to their own pockets up to half a billion dollars in "windfall" profits during a post-World War II apartment building program that ended in 1950.

Many of them were able to do this, officials said, by inflating construction cost estimates when applying for mortgage loans insured by the Federal Housing Administration. Rents on the finished projects were adjusted to the amount of the loans, rather than the actual costs, which in many cases proved to be lower than the loans. The builders and their associates were able to pocket the difference.

McKenna, who is deputy administrator of FHA's parent Housing and Home Finance Agency, said it already has been shown "beyond question that certain promoters were aided and guided by former top Federal Housing Administration officials in the windfall practices."

Blackout Imposed On Capital; Bombs Hit Oil Supplies

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras, June 18 (AP) — Anti-Communist invasion forces attacked Guatemala by land, sea and air today with the avowed purpose of overthrowing the Red-infiltrated regime, it was announced here tonight.

A spokesman for Col. Carlos Castillo Armas, No. 1 exiled opponent of Guatemalan President Jacobo Arbenz Guzman, made the announcement.

There were indications that Guatemalan supporters of Castillo inside Guatemala staged internal uprisings.

Castillo's spokesman said the attacks had been launched at:

San Jose, Guatemala's biggest air and naval base.

Guatemala City, the capital.

Puerto Barrios, the big fruit shipping port on the east coast.

Zacapa, 75 miles northeast of Guatemala City.

Retalhuleu, near the Mexican border.

The Guatemalan ambassador, Amados Chinchillas said he had heard, too, that bombs dropped on Guatemala City smashed the presidential guard barracks, the office of the chief of armed forces, and army headquarters.

The State Department in Washington announced it had received reports of "serious uprisings" of

Faulk Launches Campaign; Raps Foreign Giveaway

W. Gilbert Faulk, whose campaign for the U. S. Senate has been hampered by his daily attendance at the Louisiana legislature as Ouachita parish representative, last night took advantage of recess at Baton Rouge to return to Monroe and open his campaign here.

A coffee hour at the Virginia hotel last night followed an appearance by Faulk on a television broadcast. "Friends For Faulk" attended the informal coffee session to meet the state solon who is opposing Allen J. Ellender and Frank Ellis for the U. S. Senate post at stake in the July 27 Democratic primary.

Faulk, who announced his candidacy for the seat now held by Ellender "because he felt that there was not enough selection in the two candidates previously announced and that the people should have a candidate of their own," said last night he has been impressed with the favorable reaction which has greeted his candidacy.

Maintaining his record of never missing a session of the House in Baton Rouge, Faulk has been campaigning strenuously during the week end recesses when the House is not convened, and has scheduled numerous radio talks and television appearances. He has announced that he will augment his widespread use of newspaper advertising, radio and television with a whirlwind stump - tour of the state during the last three weeks before the July 27 primaries.

In a speech prepared for a television broadcast here last night, Faulk said that he was extremely pleased with the reception he received in New Orleans, and throughout the state generally.

He pointed out that his status as a war veteran "does not qualify nor disqualify" him for the office of U. S. Senator. He said, however,

Thailand Request For UN Observors Meets Red Veto

UNITED NATIONS, June 18—UP—Russia Friday vetoed a United Nations Security Council plan to send "peace observers" to the Indo - China border. The move opened the way for the first consideration of the Indo-Chinese war by the veto-free General Assembly.

Western diplomats were talking confidently of getting the assembly into session between July 12 and 19.

Soviet delegate Semyon K. Tsarapkin, denouncing as an American plot Thailand's request that a UN watchdog team be sent to Thailand to observe the Communist advance in Indo-China, used the kremlin's 60th veto to block the move.

The Security Council vote was 9-1, with Lebanon abstaining.

Wisconsin Senator Says New Efforts Made To Block Red Hunt

Demos Urge Prosecutions In Army-McCarthy Row

WASHINGTON, June 18 (AP) — Three Democrats in the McCarthy-Army controversy suggested today a housecleaning may be in order for the staff of the Senate Investigations subcommittee headed by Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) and McCarthy fired back that they were being "clever, dishonest and extremely dangerous to the country."

Sen. McClellan (D-Ark) was the Democrats' spokesman in the extra inning quarrel that carried past the formal end of the 6-day televised inquiry into the row between McCarthy and officials of the Army.

McClellan stoked the fire at a morning news conference, saying:

1. The Eisenhower administration should consider at once a Justice Department inquiry to determine" if perjury has been committed" in the conflicting testimony at the hearings.

2. The administration should consider "the possibility of a crime having been committed" in connection with McCarthy's possession of a 2¼-page letter containing secret FBI information on Red infiltration of the Army.

3. The White House must decide "what action should be taken against the members of the executive branch of the government who were principals." The Army principals were Army Secretary Stevens, Army Counselor John Adams and, for a time, H. Struve Hensel.

4. The Democrats will oppose any further hearings by the McCarthy subcommittee until it has dealt with what he described as the failure of two staff members to get security clearance to handle secret papers and the alleged efforts by staffers to intimidate senators during the hearings. McClellan called for a fast decision on whether an "immediate housecleaning" is needed.

Senators Symington (D-Mo) and Jackson (D-Wash) backed McClellan up.

McCarthy came out fighting. Told of what they had said, he declared the Democrats have thereby "Notified everybody who considers working for the committee that he'll be smeared from hell to breakfast. It is clever, dishonest and extremely dangerous to the country."

He said it looks like "a deliberate attack on the staff to immobilize" its work and in line with what he has called his critics' purpose "to keep us from exposing communists."

"The Democrat party is panic-stricken", McCarthy said, "when we start to expose some of the things that have been going on over the past 20 years, and they may well be."

He said he did not know of any staff member who had been refused a security clearance, that nothing has been produced that "would cause me to doubt the complete loyalty of any staff members. . . We've got the most efficient, loyal, hardworking staff we could possibly get."

Symington said he wanted to confirm a McClellan statement that two staff members of the regular Investigations subcommittee had not received security clearances from the Pentagon.

Symington said clearances for the two were asked for more than a year ago. He refused to name

3 Million-Man Reserve Force Asked For U. S.

QUANTICO, Va., June 18 (AP) — The Defense Department's manpower chief presented today a plan to draft men into the reserves to create a three-million-man pool of trained fighters ready to go in case of war.

John M. Hannah, assistant secretary of defense for manpower, explained the plan to the nation's civilian and military defense leaders holding their annual meeting here on current and long-range strategy.

The proposal seemed to be closely akin to universal military training, toward which Congress has been cool.

Hannah said the proposal has been handed to the White House and is under consideration by the National Security Council. But there is doubt that the present session of Congress will receive actual legislation on the controversial subject in time for any consideration before adjournment this summer.

Hannah noted that the current draft law is intended to revitalize the reserve program by requiring that each enlistee or inductee have periods of obligated reserve training after completion of active duty —a provision which lacks penalties for failure to comply.

"The trouble is, the plan doesn't work," Hannah said.

Of hundreds of thousands of veterans on the reserve list, only a few continue to train, he added.

The new proposal, as outlined by Hannah:

1. Men would be drafted to meet requirements of the reserve units of the Army, Navy, Marines and Air Force.

2. Induction of men into this compulsory reserve "might well be done by lot by the local draft boards," selection being made at the time a man becomes liable for military service, at 18½ years.

3. There would be two categories of reservists:

A. A "first line reserve" made up of individuals and units undergoing training and immediately available for duty in an emergency; B. the "selectively callable reserve," a pool of men with prior military experience whose special skills as technicians would be needed in sudden mobilization.

4. In general, reserve draftees would get four months active duty training, then be obligated for reserve training for seven years and eight months—a total of eight years service.

Legislation also will be sought, said Hannah, to enforce the requirement that men take part in training with units to which they are assigned.

The plan "contemplates the continuation of selective service—the draft—for an indefinite period," Hannah said.

The White House called last December for a comprehensive reserve plan. Hannah said today that President Eisenhower, Director Arthur S. Flemming of the Office of War Mobilization, Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson and others "have helped impart a sense of urgency to this matter of getting our reserve program into tune with the times and our reserve forces into much higher state of readiness to meet whatever challenge the future may hold for the military services."

Omnibus Tax Cut Measure Goes To Floor Of Senate

WASHINGTON, June 18 (AP)—The Senate Finance Committee voted late today to send to the floor an omnibus tax revision bill carrying $1,477,000,000 in reductions for corporations and individuals in its first year of operation.

The measure is almost exactly in the form asked by President Eisenhower and carries practically all of the major previsions of the House bill. It is one of the must items on the administration's 1954 legislative program.

No votes were recorded against the bill but Democratic committee members reserved the right to offer amendments on the floor to cut individual income taxes. The bill does not contain any general reductions in such levies.

Nearly all of the changes made by the Senate committee in the House bill in six weeks of secret voting were confirmed by the group in its final action today. These added up to 107 million dollars more of tax reductions in the first year of operation of the bill than the $1,370,000,000 approved by the House.

However, the $1,477,000,000 of reductions would be offset in the initial year by $1,200,000,000 in additional revenue obtained from a one-year extension of the 52 per cent corporation income tax rate. Without the extension, the rate would drop to 17 per cent.

Chairman Millikin (R-Colo) of the Finance Committee said the bill might come up on the floor late next week. The administration is pushing for quick action on the measure. Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey says that many business firms are holding up expansion or modernization plans, awaiting final action on the tax revision.

Ellender Cites Role Played In Progress Parade

U. S. Senator Allen J. Ellender, in an academic accounting of his past 18 years tenure as Louisiana's senator over state radio stations and six television hookups, Friday night cited his service to his native state on both the Senate agriculture committee and the appropriations body.

During his 30 - minute campaign program, Ellender said that "during my almost 18 years service representing you in Washington, Louisiana has made great progress." He devoted the remainder of his program to "briefly discussing" his help in bringing about the improvements "which have kept Louisiana on the march."

Referring to his Senate seniority, he said "It is vitally important in this day and time that your elected representatives, particularly your senators, have broad experience and strong positions of influence if the interests of Louisiana and her citizens are to be safeguarded."

Ellender is opposed in his re-election bid by Frank B. Ellis in the July 27 Democratic primary.

M. B. Kahn, who has a small place of business on North Third Street, was amazed Thursday when he read in the World's building permits that he had asked for a permit to erect a $65,000 warehouse and office on South Stanley Ave. A little later Mr. Kahn's phone started to ring and people started to congratulate him on his expanded business outlook.

"Thank you; it is fine to know that one has so many appreciative friends," he responded, "but I only have as yet $64,000 I could not possibly raise that last $1,000."

Later investigation disclosed that "M. B. Kahn" is a man connected with Sears Roebuck and Co., and the permit was taken out for the construction of an office and storage warehouse for this big company that will require much extra storage when they move on Louisville avenue. While it lasted, Marcus B. Kahn was quite thrilled by the fact that he was given a seemingly big financial boost.

Charlie Mitchell, one of the most prominent members of the L. B. Faulk American Legion post, we are glad to see, is out of the house again and able to take short walks. He was taken ill several weeks ago and for a few days was under the care of a physician.

Capt. J. W. Faler did a double stunt on Thursday night. He was speaker at a banquet in the Lotus Club, given by and for women in the insurance business and later he reported, just a bit late, for the Civitan Club, of which he is a prominent member. His talk to the women's group was on the subject of "Fire Prevention."

Bess Sharp, executive secretary of the Y. W. C. A., is back from the June conference which is held every year in Gulfport, and which is always attended by a sizeable group of young women members from Monroe. Miss Sharp was honored this year by being named as counselor which means she will be the A No. 1 woman, at the conference next June. It will be a big job but she is one who will be able to do a creditable job.

Lanier Thompson, according to reports returned Thursday night, is continuing to gain in strength following an unusually serious operation performed in a Memphis hospital. If all continues to go well, he will be able to return to his post of duty in September at Neville High School.

Every few months, Rae F. Rinehart, a Monroyan up to a few years ago, now of Wharton, Tex., gets a bit homesick for Monroe. How we know here is because he mails a copy of the Wharton "Spectator" to Jes' Ramblin' — and that is indication that he wants to get news from his native city.

azine publicity for the Louisiana Jaycees.

As national vice-president during the past year, Howard has visited Jaycee chapters in Florida, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia and Louisiana, traveling approximately 3,700 miles. His vice presidential portfolio was youth and sports activities.

On the local level, Howard has served on the board of directors of the Ouachita Parish Industrial Development Committee (which he helped to found), Chamber of Commerce, Red Cross, Cancer Crusade and the Lions Club. He is presently serving as president of the OPIDC.

that his experiences gave him a first hand knowledge of the armed forces at a time when the armed forces occupy such a prominent place in American affairs. Faulk also said that his overseas service in Europe had given him a first - hand knowledge of that area of the world that has been the trouble-spot for us.

Faulk called for a resurgence of patriotism. "We must be proud of America and its heritage."

Negotiations have their place, Faulk said, but negotiators must always place the interests of the U. S. first.

In reference to the foreign aid "give - away" program, Faulk said that "we cannot buy friendship." Friendship must be based on mutual understanding and faith, he said.

On income tax and possible revisions, Faulk said he favors a standard deduction of 100 per cent for all medical expenses. He also called for a re-examination of the withholding tax law, stating that he felt the people needed to have the use of their funds for the whole year. "I believe that they will pay their taxes themselves when they are due, without having them deducted throughout the year," Faulk said.

During a recent session of the McCarthy hearings, Faulk said he heard a general in the U. S. Army testify that he handled "special requests for favors from members of Congress." Faulk said there should be no such political favors mixed with the army, and that if he is elected, he will introduce legislation making it a penal offense to seek such favors.

either, but did say in reply to a question that one of them was involved in the McCarthy-Army investigation.

Another of the leading figures in the televised hearings, Army Counsel Joseph N. Welch, stopped by the White House for a personal call on President Eisenhower. Welch was asked whether Eisenhower had congratulated him on the handling of the Army case, but would not answer the question.

On the question of whether perjury has been committed, Sen. Potter (R-Mich) got in an early say. His statement last night expressed conviction that, "There is little doubt that the testimony of witnesses of both sides was saturated with statements which were not truthful and which might constitute perjury in a legal sense."

Attack Pressed

Guatemalans in Puerto Barrios, Quezaltenango, 70 miles west of Guatemala, and Zacapa, 75 miles east of Guatemala.

The rebels' spokesman indicated the first reports chiefly concerned bombing attacks, but he indicated ground and sea forces also were in motion by announcing that the first "invasion communique" would be issued later tonight.

The spokesman said Col. Castillo's "forces of liberation" had dropped fire bombs on the big gasoline storage depot at San Jose, on the Pacific Coast, which was used by the United States during World War II as a long range patrol bomber base, and at Retalhuleu and on targets in Guatemala City.

Roberto Alvarado Fuentes, Guatemalan Ambassador in Mexico City, declared, however, that bombs missed their targets at all these places.

There was no indication of how many planes were taking part in the air operation.

For days the forces of Col. Castillo have been openly mobilizing here and moving by airlift and other transport toward the Guatemalan border. They were clad in khaki uniforms without insignia, but at least some of them carried arms.

Some reports said about 5,000 were thus assembled.

Reports to New York from Central American sources said one body of heavily armed men had sailed from Hog Island off Tela on the Honduran north coast, for Puerto Barrios.

Puerto Barrios was reported thinly defended by Guatemalan forces because heavy rains had cut rail communications for several days.

In Guatemala City, Foreign Minister Guillermo Toriello grimly confirmed to a news conference that "the battle of Guatemala" has begun.

But he told only of the bombing attack at San Jose. He said the planes were of unidentified nationality.

He declared, however, that an army of Guatemalan exiles, and nationals from the Dominican Republic, Cuba and other Central American republics was poised on the border, and that the Nicaraguan government was giving them support.

Earlier, the Guatemalan radio, heard here, reported that two planes flew over the national palace and dropped leaflets warning anti-Communists to desert strategic centers to avoid being bombed.

Correspondents in Guatemala City heard antiaircraft fire.

The resistance movements's secret "liberation radio" was heard urging all Guatemalans who are against the government to withdraw their money from Guatemalan banks immediately.

It also urged the people to disobey government blackout orders.

"Attention, people of Guatemala," the broadcast said. "The government is prepared to black out the city. Attention, those who are not with the government, turn on lights on terraces and roofs, for if communism forces us we will choose objectives in the center of the city and our planes will not be responsible for those zones which are hit."

Guatemalan Ambassador Chinchillas today received an urgent message from President Arbenz to appeal directly to President Galvez of Honduras to put an immediate halt to war preparations on Guatemala's border.

At his news conference in Guatemala, Foreign Minister Toriello said "Guatemala will stand as one man against this criminal invasion."

Driver Mistakes Biggest Cause Of Accidents

Driver mistakes are the cause of the majority of fatal traffic accidents, Monroe motorists were warned yesterday by police Major Jack Davis.

Davis issued this observation as he alerted drivers to be double cautious over the approaching Fourth of July holiday when the margin for error will be multiplied many times over the normal accident risk.

The major is coordinating the efforts of the Ouachita Parish Safety Council and other agencies in a campaign to advise that each motorist think twice — once for himself and once for the person in the other automobile.

"A car does not go out of control until the driver loses control of it," he said. "Traffic accidents don't just happen — they are caused."

With the Twin Cities area due for its share of the three - day holiday traffic rush — some 40 million vehicles are expected to jam the nation's highways — Davis came up with some suggestions supported by the National Safety Council.

They are: Don't drive after drinking — even a little. Cut the usual cruising speed 10 miles an hour. Double check before passing or changing lanes. Don't follow the car ahead too closely, and don't compete in traffic; let the other guy go first.

City Recreation Program Outlined By Dept. Director

The rapid growth of the Municipal Recreation Department and its broad range of activities were described by the department's director, Jack Hesketh, at a Thursday evening meeting of the Civitan Club.

One of the first in the state, the Monroe recreational department was formed in the early thirties and covers an extensive field of outdoor and indoor activities for both white and colored persons.

Besides the usual fare of sports, the summer playground activities include such things as handicrafts, he explained.

Civitan Club members who are slated to attend the national convention of Civitan International in St. Louis, Mo., next week, were announced at the Thursday meeting. They include J. E. Peters, president; Conrad Lee, president-elect, and O. W. Wolf.

Seeks To Shift Foreign Aid To A Loan Basis

WASHINGTON, June 18 —UP— Rep. John M Vorys (R-Ohio) said Friday he will try to get the House Foreign Affairs committee to put any future U. S. economic aid to foreign nations on a loan rather than a gift basis.

Vorys, a leading committee member, said administration witnesses before the group have failed to support President Eisenhower's original request that economic aid be made as loans where possible.

The Randall commission, appointed by Mr. Eisenhower to study trade and tariff problems, made similar recommendations.

"I'm trying to carry out what I think the Randall commission and the President had in mind," Vorys told a reporter.

The committee postponed action on this and other phases of the administration's $3,497,000,000 foreign aid request until Monday.

Union Voters To Act On Health Unit Tax

FARMERVILLE, June 18 (Special) — Property owners in Union parish will vote on a mill tax to support and maintain the parish health unit on Tuesday, August 3.

The proposed millage tax on the dollar of all property subject to state taxation would run for a period of 10 years, beginning with 1955 and ending with the year 1964 with the revenue to be used for the purpose of operation and maintenance of a public health center.

At the present time bids are being locally advertised, to be let on July 13 by the Union Parish police jury, for a new health unit building.

9 Home Nursing Instructors End 1-Week Courses

Nine Ouachita and Union Parish women Friday finished a week-long course in instructor training for home nursing, Mrs. Taunton Veazey, executive secretary of the local Red Cross said.

According to Mrs. Veazey, the women — all of them home economics teachers or trained nurses —were given the course by Miss Christine Wright of Atlanta, Ga., assistant director of nursing for the Red Cross there.

Following the completion of the 30-hour course, which ended Friday, all of those taking the course were qualified to teach home nursing classes to interested groups, such as high school students. Civil Defense workers, or anyone else interested in taking a course in home nursing.

The course taught this week also included instructions in first aid treatment for atomic bomb burn cases, Mrs. Veazey said.

Those who completed the teachers' training course are Mrs. Ruth Wade and Mrs. Lucille B. Stewart of Farmerville; Mrs. Wilma Tucker, of Marion; Mrs. Helen P. Sims of Lillie; Mrs. Corrie Parker of Haile, Mrs. Sue H. Calhoun of Downsville; Mrs. John Coon and Mrs. Anna Mae Breece of Monroe; and Mrs. David Tilman, of West Monroe.

Mrs. Veazey said anyone interested in taking a course in home nursing may do so by signing up for the course at the Red Cross chapter here.

The Situation In The Colleges

In the past few weeks, a number of people have contacted this newspaper wondering just what it is that their youngsters are being taught at college these days. Some days ago, the News-Star published an editorial based on a description of what took place in an English class at LSU. The editorial apparently jolted a few others who have brought similar instances to the Morning World.

Discussions with several "average" students have proved that in the state of Louisiana, there are professors who are not teaching an altogether American doctrine. Consider the schools and the colleges. Dictatorships have long realized that schools are the best places for indoctrination of the future citizens.

In the American school systems, there has been a concerted attack by organizations of a left wing nature to undermine the teaching of Americanism. Other organizations of an internationalist nature openly advocate their aims and state that they are keenly interested in the teachings not of Americanism, but of internationalism. In order to get at the bottom of the situation and estimate the damage being done, it is very necessary to declare that no forms of Marxism should be advocated.

They are being taught. They are being taught in history, they are being taught in Economics, English, Public Administration, Political Science, Business, and in other classes.

More than the fact that they are being taught, they are being openly advocated by some of the professors involved. To study Marxism should be a necessity. One must learn its inner workings, the fact that it bases its case on mathematical concepts of the individual and not on moral law, in order to successfully cope with this creed. However, must the young people who are not familiar with this thing be instructed while they are learning about it that it is necessary in order to survive?

Should the young people, the future leaders of the nation be taught that Americanism is passe, that "we are all citizens of the World?"

Should they be instructed that the fight against Communism is based on hysteria and not on the fact that the Communists have set up a timetable of destruction for the free world culminating in 1973? Should the young people be taught that religion is old, a tired form of backward reaction not to be tolerated? Should they be taught that Christ was a Marxist? Should they be taught that anti-Communists are discredited and misguided individuals?

Should they be instructed that Socialists are "all right; just people attempting to win rights for other people?" Should they be told that the Nazis are more dangerous today than the Communists, a foolish piece of propaganda if ever there was one?

These are questions which your consciences need to answer. If you personally believe that these aspects should be taught to the future voters, then, may the Almighty bestow His immediate help on this nation as it is certain to be destroyed.

Put it another way. Put it in a way which will possibly have more effect in these days and times. You work hard. You send your son or daughter to college to get what you happily believe will be an education. The prodigy returns, a rabid left winger, attempting to "change the world" and denouncing the profit system which was responsible for sending him to school in the first place. This has happened all over the nation and it is happening in more than one Louisiana home today.

If you want your son or daughter to learn things which in the first place, are not true, and which in the second place must be unlearned if they are to ever be good Americans, then, you should continue to take no notice of school and college affairs in the state and nation.

The National Education Association (for instance) has long advocated "UNESCO" in schools. Its association with the World Federation of Education Associations has long been a source of consternation to many Americans. The fact that NEA is an extremely powerful organization in the schools and colleges is another source of worry to some Americans. The NEA has at times been denounced as a "left wing" organization which as a whole, it is probably not, but there are many inside its sacrosanct portals who advocate such policies.

The fact is that the Communists through their associates, the Socialists, (the unwitting and many times, unknowing) "one worlders" are reaping new harvests of friends in the schools today.

Any American who plans to send a child to grammar school, an adolescent to high school or a young citizen to college should make it a point to read the report issued by the Jenner Committee of the Senate.

The reading in those hearings is perhaps the most shocking series of articles ever in print as regards the American schools and colleges today. They do not (unfortunately) include information about Socialists who are Marxists just the same because those people are not as yet considered "subversive," but they should be considered.

The cost is little and the reading is extremely valuable. After reading these hearings, only the most complacent will not realize that trouble is at hand.

The Morning World urges the Governor and the State authorities to carefully look into this matter of Marxism in the state colleges and schools.

It is a matter which needs immediate attention.

California man is in jail, charged with stealing ladders, a horrible example of how not to get up in the world.

Those looking for a better way of life usually start griping when they find it.

If the world has evolved out of chaos, it is obvious that it didn't evolve far enough.

Congressional Quarterly

Early Skirmishes Indicate Close Price-Support Vote

WASHINGTON — Leading lobbyists for opposing camps in the farm price - support battle both have posted victory predictions in interviews with Congressional Quarterly, but an analysis of black-and-white clues leaves at least the senate outcome in doubt, CQ said.

Roger Fleming, secretary-treasurer of the American Farm Bureau Federation, told CQ May 13 that the senate will uphold flexible supports for basic commodities by at least two votes, and possibly by a margin of 20. John Baker, legislative representative of the National Farmers Union, June 2 predicted victory for rigid supports —which President Eisenhower opposes — by four to 10 votes.

CQ's analysis of significant guideposts indicated a larger hard core of senators backing rigid supports than flexible supports, the balance lying with a large group of swing men. If one of the two key guideposts is given greater weight, the flexible camp stands to win enough of the doubtful votes to prevail. The other guidepost, however, indicates a margin for rigid supports.

Fleming declared: "We know we're going to win" in the senate. The showdown vote, he predicted, will favor flexible supports by at least 49-47. If everything breaks right, he foresees victory by as much as 58-38. In adding up the prospects, he counted heavily on loyal Republicans switching from rigid to flexible to support the president. And he claimed that some Democrats — like Paul H. Douglas (Ill.) — will have to come around or face defeat at the polls in states where the farm bureau's main strength lies.

One of the farm bureau's biggest jobs, Fleming said, is to counteract the belief that flexible supports can't win in 1954, an election year. He named Chairman Clifford R. Hope (R. Kan.) of the house agriculture committee as a major source of what he called "band wagon" psychology.

Baker said rigid supports will win by at least 50-46 perhaps by as much as 53-43. His best estimate, he said, is a five-vote margin. He cautioned that the outcome will depend a great deal on the parliamentary situation when the showdown is reached.

Some pro - administration leaders in this debate, such as Chairman George D. Aiken (R. Vt.) of the senate agriculture committee, have said that the opposing forces may reach a deadlock, enacting no new price support law this year. In that case — or if the president should veto a rigid-supports measure — flexible supports would take effect automatically in 1955. In this form, however, they would permit sharper cuts in support levels than the president's modified plan.

Baker called a deadlock unlikely. He said Aiken's speculation on the possibility constitutes "psychological warfare."

The senate had a preliminary vote on rigid supports April 27. A one-year extension for basics was rejected, 40-48. The vote, however, was not clear-cut; one or more senators who voted against rigid supports in April plan to switch sides in event of a decisive roll call. (Fleming said there also will be switches in the other direction.)

To pin down the doubtful votes, CQ checked two earlier roll cas on price supports.

Both roll calls were on a 1949 proposal to extend rigid supports for basics. The senate changed its mind several times, at last rejecting the full - scale extension in favor of one more year of rigid supports. (The senate - house compromise which was finally enacted, kept the one-year extension and provided for gradual conversion to flexible supports thereafter. By later action, rigid supports were extended through 1954.)

CQ added up the prospects by analyzing the 1954 vote together with the 1949 roll calls, while taking into account known stands by leaders of the rigid and flexible sup ports forces. Undocumented reports of senators' positions were not weighed; although such reports may be accurate, their reliability cannot be evaluated objectively.

Here's how the senate seems to line up if the 1949 rejection of long-range rigid supports is considered the more significant clue, as Fleming contends:

Solid votes — 29 for rigid, 7 for flexible.

Probable votes — 13 for rigid, 20 for flexible.

Swing men — 2 leaning toward rigid, 24 toward flexible.

By this analysis, rigid supports have more relatively firm adherents (42) than flexible (27), but neither side has a firm senate majority. The greater number of swing men leaning toward flexible supports gives that side a bigger pool of potential votes (51) than rigid (44).

Here's the outlook if, as Baker suggests, greater weight is given to the 1949 roli call — later reversed — by which the senate approved long - range rigid supports:

Solid votes — 29 for rigid, 7 for flexible.

Probable votes — 14 for rigid, 13 for flexible.

Swing men — 5 leaning toward rigid, 27 toward flexible.

This aqalysis indicates 43 relatively firm votes for rigid, 20 for flexible. Counting swing men, the pool of potential votes for rigid supports is 48, for flexible, 47.

Sam J. Ervin, Jr. (D. N. C.), who succeeded the ate Sen. Clyde R. Hoey June 11, never has cast a record vote on long-range price supports, and therefore was not included in CQ's tabulation. However, his office told CQ June 15 that Ervin favors rigil supports, as Hoey usually did.

Clues to prospects in the house are not concrete. However, the pattern of recent years has had the house generally favoring rigid supports, the senate flexible supports. June 8, the house agriculture committee approved a one-year extension of rigid supports.

There have been efforts to work out a compromise — which would be similar to the outcome in 1949 —calling for a one-year extension of rigid supports, perhaps with provision for some form of flexible supports after 1955. Before approving a simple one-year extension, the house committee rejected proposals for gradual conversion to flexible supports after 1955 — as well as turning down long-range extension of rigid supports. June 11, the president said he was unwilling to compromise on the principles of his farm program.

The Immunity Bill

Much is made of the superior methods of getting at subversion and espionage in Great Britain and Canada. The fact s not brought out that in those countries although a witness s warned that what he says may be used against him, he cannot plead the similiar immunities to the Fifth Amendment as used in this country. The clause in the Fifth Amendment reading: "nor shall (a person) be compelled in any criminal case to be a witness against himself," cannot be employed to safeguard a person from testifying against anyone else.

George Sokolsky

The objective in cases of subversion and espionage is not so much to punish the culprit as to discover the nature and danger of the subversion and espionage. The McCarran Immunity Bill seeks to rectify a defect in the Constitution arising from the nature of our enemy who employs subversion and infiltration as a technique of war. Under this Bill, a person could testify as to the facts concerning which he has knowledge without the peril of self-incrimination.

Under its provisions, if a witness, testifying before a Congressional committee, claimed the Fifth Amendment, he could be granted immunity, with the consent of the Attorney General or by a majority of one house of Congress. The witness would then be directed to testify without peril to himself. This measure would aid many persons who were once involved in the Communist conspiracy but had broken with it. They usually fear that if they testify truthfully, they might incriminate themselves, particularly under the Smith Act. If a Congressional committee is more interested in a man's knowledge than in "getting" him, the McCarran Immunity Bill provides a way out of the dilemma for both the witness and the Congressional committee.

The National Lawyers Guild is opposed to the McCarran Immunity Bill. This same organization is opposed to what it calls "McCarthyism." Are we to infer that the National Lawyers Guild wishes no investigation of subversion or espionage except by such means as lead only to punishment of individuals but not to an exposure of the nature and design of the subversion and espionage which is more important?

In its circular on the subject, the Guild says:

"There is no question that Congress can offer immunity in exchange for information. But this is very different from saying that if a witness refuses to accept the offer of immunity and will not testify voluntarily, he can constitutionally be punished for such refusal."

Actually once the offer is made, in public, not as a coercive measure but by right of law, on what grounds can the witness refuse to aid the United States in discovering the nature of the subversion? The danger of self-incrimination has been removed. What then is the witness' claim to silence? It can only be that he is still within the conspiracy or that he prefers the conspiracy to the United States.

The Guild further says:

"An immunity statute makes exoneration complete—as far as Federal prosecution is concerned—and thus more attractive to the ordinary criminal who, when suspected of a crime, is primarily interested in escaping punishment for it. To such criminals the chance to testify in return for immunity might be welcomed."

As regards the ordinary criminal this would be correct if a Congressional subcommittee, at a hearing with one member constituting a quorum, could grant such immunity. But this is impossible under the McCarran Immunity Bill. The immunity can only be granted with the consent of the Attorney General or by a majority of the full Senate or the House of Representatives. Thus complete publicity is available; nothing can be done in secret or by corruption.

This Bill actually would make it possible for many ex-Communists and others who had made a record by a brush at subversion or espionage to "clear" themselves and to help their government without fear of personal involvement.

The real objection of the Guild is to the so-called informer. The word, informer, has an ugly connotation and when it is used, the intention is to humiliate. Has any citizen the right, in a time when our country is in peril, to refuse to give to his government whatever information he has?

Our Children

Father's Day

Father, like the underpinning of the house hidden under the more decorative features, is essential to the strength and stability of the structure, his family. It is his to uphold, defend, protect, God helping him.

His to deal with the shower of bills that arrive with the deadly inevitability of destiny on the first day of each month. His to strengthen Mother's hand as she faces the surprising antics of their offspring. His to bring to bear the word of reason on the unreasoning flights of Youth His to remain steadfast come storm or fairweather. He has earned his Red Letter on the Calendar.

If the celebration of his emergence as a V.I.P. spreads over the whole community, so much the merrier. The children will buy the proverbial tie, the socks and the wallet and rejoice the hearts of the shopkeepers. Why not? Joy shared is joy compounded and surely nobody is the worse for that. Not on Father's Day when the more there is the better for Father.

Dad really does not care too much about the tie. He has a tie. Nor does he need the new wallet. To be sure the old one is rather thin but the new one will scarcely remedy that. Socks? Well, mother usually attends to them. What Father wants and enjoys above all else, is the tone in his boy's voice as he says shyly, "Here. I thought you'd like this, Dad." It is the light in his little girl's eyes as she says, "I made these for you myself. I hope they fit. They're your favorite color, see? Blue " These are what he treasures

Showered with demonstrations of affection, Dad will beam upon his children, basking in the warmth of their appreciation, hoping nobody will notice how tickled he is with all the attention he is getting, loving every minute of it.

This day has an added meaning to the father whose children have grown up—men and women busy with their own concerns. He will remember them as the children who climbed upon his knee to search his pockets for what they might hold for them, to confide their troubles and be comforted. Will they remember?

The wires of greeting and affection, the flowers, the letters, will say, "Yes." They will say that time, distance, life's toil and care have not separated them from their father and never will. The years but bring them closed in loving understanding.

Here's to Father. Long life and happiness to him along with the shower of ties and socks and wallets and kisses. He has earned them all.

Every child should have his own library. Good books are a part of a child's growth. Dr. Patri has made up a list of more than 50 books for children of all ages in leaflet P-8. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to him, care of this paper.

Timmons In Washington

By Bascom N. Timmons

Earl Warren's Presidential Chances Are Blooming Again

Chief Justice of the United States Earl Warren, in the opinion of many Republicans is the great hope of their party for the presidency in 1956 if Dwight D. Eisenhower chooses not to run.

Bascom Timmons

Just as many Republicans will look down their noses at the suggestion. Some of them so far as to assert that Warren is not truly Republican — a statement heard frequently at the 1952 GOP convention in Chicago, where he was California's favorite son. However, the chief justice's first year in his present office has done nothing to diminish his availability as a candidate for the highest office in the land.

So many commentators have bemoaned the lack of Republican presidential timber that the "What about Warren?" question deserves an answer. It can be predicted here and now that Earl Warren's name will become more and more prominent as the nominee of the Republican party in 1956.

A number of reasons can be cited, though not necessarily in the order of their importance. The first mentioned here is that the Republican party will be so badly divided two years hence, partly as a result of the McCarthy rumpus, that the man who has been aloof from it all in his capacity as chief justice will be the party's ace in the hole.

A second reason is that the GOP will probably find, as a result of the November elections this year, that a little liberalizing is in order. Earl Warren has been assailed by some conservative Republicans as a radical, but the state of California made him its governor for ten years after four years as attorney general.

Of those who have been quietly discussed here as possible successors to President Eisenrower, Earl Warren has the outstanding personality, it is generally agreed. The only new possibility in the personality class is believed to be Attorney General Herbert Brownell, Jr. Because he comes from New York, the political speculators are already talking of him as the choice for the vice presidential nomination in 1956—chiefly because New York and California together have the largest bloc of electoral votes, with the exception of Pennsylvania which has the same total as California.

Earl Warren as a possible candidate would face much of the same opposition as did Eisenhower in the 1952 convention — from state delegations which favored the late Senator Robert A. Taft. That opposition would be intensified in Warren's case from southern states, including those which Eisenhower carried, because of the anti-racial segregation decisions of the U. S. Supreme Court, which bore Warren's name as chief justice.

That so far has been the only Warren decision which has much political significance. He has had nine written majority opinions in his year on the bench, and one written and seven non written dissents. His opinion in the anti-segregation cases is counted on by Republican organization to help the party win back some of the colored vote was won back in the 1952 election, Republicans say, and they believe Warren's opinion will help hold it for the GOP next fall.

Another factor which could make the chief justice the leading Republican presidential possibility if President Eisenhower does not run is that he is well regarded by organized labor, and by working people generally. Two of his opinions in the year he has been on the bench, favored the workers involved. Labor publications have spoken well of him, not overlooking the fact that he is card carrying unionist himself, a member of the Musicians Union and that he was a railroad employee as a youth.

In short, the Republicans do not have too many candidates, and Warren who will be 65 when the Republicans meet in convention in 1956, looks better to many of them than he did in 1948, when he ran with Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York for vice president.

Youthful Monroe Pilot Dies In Georgia Crash

JAMES R. SIMMONS

A jet plane crash in a corn field near Boston, Georgia, Thursday, brought death to a 22-year-old Air Force pilot from Monroe, and a 30-year-old pilot from Valdosta, Ga.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Simmons, 106 Egan Street, Monroe, Friday morning were notified of the death of their son, 2nd Lt. James Rogers Simmons.

According to meager details released on the crash, he and Capt. John Harpster, who also died in the mishap, had been on a practice instrument flight in a single-engine, two-seat T33 jet trainer.

The impact of the crash dug a crater 30 feet wide by some 20 feet deep, according to reports. Simmons body was found in the wreckage, but the body of the other pilot was found about 400 yards away, in an ejection seat.

Time of the crash was fixed at around 11 a.m. Thursday by officials.

Simmons, who had been in the Air Force for about 13 months, received his commission after graduation from school at Foster Air Base near Victoria, Tex., May 12. He was transferred from there to his last assignment, Moody Air Force base, about a month ago.

The air man was a graduate of Ouachita Parish High School, and had attended Northeast Louisiana State College, Monroe, and Louisiana Polytechnic Institute, Ruston.

Survivors besides his parents include three brothers, D. E. Simmons, Houston; Norman Simmons, who is attending a ministerial school at Atlanta, Ga., and David Simmons, who resides with the parents.

Funeral arrangements late Friday were still incomplete, but services probably will be held in Monroe, according to the father.

Two other Air Force pilots died in other crashes in Georgia.

An F84 Thunderjet crashed in a field near Commerce yesterday, killing the pilot. The plane came down within 500 feet of a tractor. Identity of the pilot was withheld pending notification of kin.

The Air Force also withheld identification of a pilot killed in a crash near Alpharetta, 30 miles north of here. His plane crashed about 11 a.m. in rugged terrain.

A companion plane to the one that crashed near Alpharetta, nearly blew out a tire in landing on a runway too short for the speedy craft at Gainesville. His identity also was withheld until the name of his companion was released.

Tax Vote Count Here Verified By Police Jury

The Ouachita Parish police jury yesterday officially and unanimously passed a three - fourths mill parish property tax to support the parish health unit and carry out the desires of the voters of the parish as indicated by the parish-wide tax election Tuesday. . . .

Official returns as promulgated by the police jury yesterday showed the health tax was passed, 1,015 votes to 788, with a property evaluation of $3,752,754 for, and $3,117,952 against.

The road maintenance was officially shown to have been defeated, largely by city votes. Rural wards six, seven, eight, and nine voted for the tax, but two others—two and four — voted against it. Three, five, and especially ten, gave an overwhelming vote against the proposed one and three-fourths mills proposed levy.

The road tax vote was 620 for, 1,236 against, and $1,207,466 for as opposed to $5,607,632 against.

The new health tax assessment will be added to the present year's taxes.

Two Women Held For Prostitution

Kathleen Kennedy, 23, and Doris Kennedy, 26, were arrested Friday by Monroe city detectives at a downtown hotel and admitted guilt to charges of prostitution.

The two women, no kin, said they arrived in Monroe June 15 from Lafayette. The elder of the two said she has been "in the business" since 1949 in New Orleans, Lafayette and Monroe. The other woman says she has operated in Abbeville, Port Arthur, Texas, and Monroe.

They are awaiting trial in Monroe city court.

Water Shortage Grips Winnsboro; Mulhearn Appeals

WINNSBORO, June 18. (Special) —Winnsboro — a city that has outgrown its water system — is faced with a period of drought in the kitchen faucets unless use of the vital liquid is curtailed.

This was the pronouncement made Friday by Mayor Robert F. Mulhearn, who urged citizens to conserve water, and be especially moderate in taxing the supply during the hours of 2 p.m. and midnight.

Curtailment of car washing, watering of lawns and gardens during this period daily, was suggested by the mayor, who explained that the present critical situation is not the result of a breakdown of wells or equipment. He pointed out that the city has outgrown its present water system, and that the pinch is particularly hard during the hot dry season.

Complete elimination of the problem by the summer of 1955, however, was envisioned by the official, who pointed out that work on the $450,000 water improvement and fire protection program is progressing rapidly.

When this work is completed the town will have three new water wells, a new treatment plant, storage tank, and a 300,000 - gallon tower tank, which will be a vast gain over the present tower tank of 50,000-gallon capacity.

Theft Suspect Is Held In Texas For Charges Here

Deputies from the Ouachita Parish sheriff's department will journey to Dallas, Tex., today where they will pick up a prisoner, Robert Vincent Sterling, 40, and return home to Monroe to face theft charges.

Sterling, arrested in Dallas Thursday night, is alleged to have robbed H. M. Prescott, of Highway 13, near Cheniere station, of $150 on the night of Sept. 3, 1953.

The man was taken into custody by the Dallas police department, and has waived extradition.

A pick-up order had been out on Sterling since the date of the alleged theft.

Ellis Challenges Senator Ellender To Public Debate

Frank B. Ellis, candidate for the U. S. Senate, yesterday challenged the incumbent senator from Louisiana to debate julicly pertinent issues concerning the state of Louisiana.

Ellis, speaking in Rochelle, Tullos, Urania, Olla, and Clarks, said that he would meet his opponent either on radio, television, or in open forum.

Today, Ellis will speak in Oak Grove, Lake Providence, Tallulah, Delhi, Rayville, and Winnsboro to wind up the fifth week of his "meet the people" campaign which has covered more than half of the parishes in the state.

"Early in this campaign," said Ellis, "my opponent in this race said that he had no time to campaign—but that he would let his friends speak for him.

"But when Senator Ellender found out that his Louisiana friends were as scarce as grasshoppers in a turkey pen, he agreed to return to Louisiana — on a television movie.

"I ask you to watch this TV show—and then, if you can, find out why the senior senator from this state has time to travel around the world many times, but can not visit with you in your homes, your place of business, your farms, or your communities.

"In his 18 years of office as U. S. Senator, Ellender has never really met the people of Louisiana".

Ellis noted that the people of Louisiana had re-elected his opponent to office on two occasions because he "had never been seriously opposed".

Ellis, who is National Democratic Committeeman for Louisiana, struck out at his opponent's record on wage bills.

He pointed out that Ellender had offered three amendments that would have nullified the Wage and Hour Act designed to raise wages of workers in inter-state commerce from 40 cents per hour to a minimum of 75 cents per hour.

"My opponent", said Ellis, "predicted that a national depression would follow if this bill became a law."

Ellis re-stated his campaign pledge that he would return periodically to all congressional districts within the state to confer with the people of that district on their immediate problems and their needs.

"I shall represent no clique, clan, or faction", said Ellis, "My pledge to you is that I shall represently only all of the people of my state."

Life Underwriters Elect Officers; Smith Is Honored

Four newly elected officers were installed Friday at the regular monthly meeting of the Monroe Association of Life Underwriters, and an association member was handed his ninth consecutive national quality award.

Formally seated in their new offices were J. L. Duncan, president, Charles Cascio, 1st vice president, J. E. Nelson, 2nd vice president, and A. J. McCready, secretary - treasurer. The four men will serve during the coming year beginning July 1.

Named to his ninth national quality award for insurance underwriters was J. Arthur Smith. Retiring president R. P. McKay made the presentation to Smith. John Hickman, assistant secretary for the Union Life company in Little Rock, Ark., served as principal speaker for the evening.

The group elected to meet again in both July and August. Until this year meetings were suspended during these summer months.

Fashionable grooming merely starts with prudent shopping. Careful upkeep is of equal importance. Little things, such as using padded hangers to keep blouse shoulders in shape, play an important part.

Justice Jackson Orders Costello Freed On Bail

WASHINGTON, June 18 (AP)—Supreme Court Justice Jackson today ordered that Frank Costello, New York gambler, be released on $50,000 bail, pending decision by the high tribunal on an appeal which his counsel plans to file.

Costello, 63, was sentenced in New York last May 17 to five years in prison and fined $30,000 on income tax evasion charges.

The U. S. District Court and U. S. Circuit Court in New York City refused to permit Costello's release and the high court justice said that he thought this should be done because of intervening circumstances.

In a memorandum, Jackson said the Supreme Court on June 7 had decided to review next fall four cases involving income tax convictions that were based on the net worth theory. Under this theory, the Internal Revenue Bureau looks at a taxpayer's net worth and figures that to have attained that worth he must have had income larger than that he reported.

Jackson said that theory was involved in the Costello case. The justice said the Supreme Court's June 7 action had not been brought to the attention of the lower court judges who refused to permit Costello's release on bail.

"I think," said Jackson, "the Supreme Court deems that a substantial question on this income tax theory exists. I feel Costello should be admitted to bail until the question is finally settled."

Costello was convicted on three counts of having evaded payment of $39,015 in federal income taxes from 1947 through 1949. In addition to his prison sentence and fine he also was assessed the cost of his trial which ran six weeks. This was estimated at about $5,000.

Costello, a native of Italy, came to this country at the age of four. In addition to the prison sentence he also faces a deportation action.

Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lowman

'Chorus Girl' Bending Reduces If Done Right

The "Chorus Girl exercise, or the front bend, is a valuable exercise if it is done correctly. That old saying "bend down, sister, always makes us feel as though the inches will soon disappear.

Actually, much of the good of this exercise is lost when it is done as most people do it. I have given this before in my column, but let me call it to your attention today as an especially good diaphragm reducer when it is done properly.

Arms Relaxed

Stand with your feet separated and your arms hanging at your sides. Lift your arms shoulder height, palms toward the ceiling, and bend your elbows, fingertips pointing toward the ceiling. Your arms and wrist are relaxed. Bend your trunk forward. Touch the floor or your toes with your fingertips if you can, or go down toward the toes as far as possible. Lift your trunk and return arms to starting position. Keep your arms in this position as you slowly lift your rib cage up as high as you can. Hold for a few moments and continue bending and raising the trunk and lifting the rib cage.

The position of the arms is important in this exercicse. If you have them overhead, one arm by each ear, you are almost certain to stretch from the shoulders, not through the diaphragm.

Another

Here is another diaphragm reducer: Stand tall. Separate the feet comfortably. Slide the fingers of both hands down the left leg toward the toe. Drag the fingers up the leg and bend the trunk BACK to the right. Continue. After a time slide the fingertips down the right leg and drag them up and pull back to the left.

If yoyu would like to have my tested exercises which will take a few incches from your waistline in a few weeks, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 6, "Don't Go to Waist! Address Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Elliott Named Supt. Of Union Parish Schools

FARMERVILLE, June 18 (Special)—Receiving a total of six votes out of a possible ten, J. G. (Doc) Elliott, Farmerville High School principal, was named superintendent of Union Parish Schools at a meeting of the school board Tuesday. He will succeed the late C. C. Murphey, who died last week.

Other applicants for superintendent were M. C. Hall, assistant superintendent of Ouachita parish; Ira Reeves of Columbia, a native of Union; and George Cole, principal of Spearsville High School.

The school board Tuesday passed a resolution of respect to the memor of Mr. Murphey.

A successor to Elliott at Farmerville High will be named at a meeting of the board on July 6th, at which time parish school teachers for the 1954-55 term will be announced.

Elliott was born and reared six miles west of Farmerville and has been in the teaching profession 24 years, his first school being Holmesville where he taught four years. Wilhite was his next school where he taught four years, later moving to Junction City where he remained two years. He then came to Farmerville as coach, in which capacity he served seven years, taking over as principal eight years ago when Murphey was named superintendent.

He holds a bachelor of science and master of education degrees from L. S. U. He is a member of the American Legion, Lions Club, and Masonic Lodge, and is at present chairman of the official board of the Farmerville Methodist Church.

This was announced this week by F. H. Shiel, publicity chairman for the charter night celebration, who also stated that Don Weil of Monroe, lieutenant governor for this Kiwanis district, will serve as master of ceremonies for the occasion.

Organized about two months ago, the Olla Kiwanis club is one of the youngest Kiwanis organizations in this section and "already is showing signs of being a very robust Kiwanis baby," Mr. Shiel added.

The presentation of the new charter and the other activities in connection with the charter night observance will take place in the cafeteria of LaSalle high school near Olla at 8 p.m., June 28. Official sponsors of the event will be the Jena and Columbia Kiwanis clubs co-organizers of the new Olla group.

Working on the charter night committee are F. H. Shiel, publicity; H. D. Gaddis, houle; Judge V. M. Mouser, program; J. M. Gregory, attendance, and C. A. McCartney. Mouser and Gregory represent the Kiwanis at Columbia; Shiel, Gaddis and McCartney represent the Jena Organization.

In addition to the committee from the co-sponsoring clubs, a similar committee from the Olla Club also is working on plans for charter night. They are Maj. E.E. Sims, president of the new group; Dick Elliott, Sr., Roy Welch, Homer Allbritton and W. T. Holloman.

Dorothy Dix

DEAR MISS DIX: It seems unfair to write about our troubles behind my husband's back. He doesn't believe in telling anyone our troubles; in fact, he doesn't think I have any. He apparently believes he bears all of them. To him, I am young, inexperienced and stubborn.

However, I am proud of the way I've handled our trials. I admit I didn't know much about housework or training children when we were married, but I set my mind to learn as much as possible, and I think I have succeeded.

We had a tough time paying for our farm—but we did and it meant lots of hard work for me. We have five children—two by my husband's first wife, and three of our own. My husband does not give me any help in the house, and he even discourages the youngsters from doing so. Yet, I have worked in the fields with him, helped build the house and done extra work. He objects to anything I do for sheer enjoyment—such as reading, playing the piano, singing, or just listening to the radio. He is so suspicious of me that I'm not allowed to go to the store unless one of the children comes along. I am never given any money for myself; in fact, I have almost to beg for food and clothing money. Nothing I do pleases my husband and I am about at the end of my rope. There's probably no concrete advice you can give me, but I'd like your viewpoint, anyway.

Moira

WIFE AT 17

ANSWER: To my regret I had to shorten your very long letter to essentials. It is a fine letter with one of the best accounts of wholehearted co-operation and successful hurdling of obstacles I have read. You entered marriage with everything against you, yet you have succeeded in accomplishing wonders. After an acquaintance of only two months, you married a man more than twice your age. You were only 17, too young for marriage under even ideal conditions. Your step-children were 10 and 8 years old. How could anyone expect you to be fully experienced in housekeeping or child care?

That you undertook the care of two rebellious children, brought them up to fine maturity, raised three other youngsters, with absolutely no co-operation from their father, is a wonderful example of courage and persistence. Your husband should be everlastingly thankful that he is lucky enough to have such a wife. That he isn't is certainly a blot on his character. Since you have been able to accomplish, so far, everything you set out to do, I think you should go about the reformation of a very stupid ingrate. Let him know that you feel entitled at least to the consideration due a housekeeper, including sufficient money to run the house and something for yourself. If he can't bring himself to give you the devotion you deserve, the least he can do is treat you with the dignity due a human being. You're strong enough to stand up to him for this much; 14 years of the kind of life he's led you is enough!

DEAR MISS DIX: Ted says he loves me and wants to marry me, but he doesn't want to give me a ring. It happens that our birthdays are a few days apart, and I spent $25 on a gift for him. He bought me a piece of luggage for $10, and, because it wasn't the size I wanted he told me to exchange it for a larger one and he'd pay the difference. Well, although that was three months ago, he still hasn't given me the money. He's been in the Army for the past month and I haven't seen him. Should I write and ask for the money?

Lou

ANSWER: When financial bothers arise between young people, there are two possible reasons for them—(1) the young man just doesn't have much money or (2) he's very careful about it. Usually, the former reason is the correct one. Army men are apt to be broke more often than not, so perhaps it would be considerate to postpone asking for the money until he's had a chance to adjust to his new status. When he comes home, you might remind him of the transaction, but don't write to him about it. The personal touch implies more consideration.

New Law Governs Security Risks Among Doctors

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower signed into law today a measure giving the armed services full authority to deny coocmmissions to drafted doctors or dentists who are considered security risks.

The legislation grew out of the Army's promotion and honorable discharge of former Army dentist Irving Peress after Peress refused to fill out an Army security questionnaire or answer questions at a New York hearing of Sen. McCarthy's Senate Investigations subcommittee.

The Army contended that a Feb. 9, 1954, Supreme Court decision left it no alternative.

The new law will allow the services in similar circcumstances to keep doctors and dentists as enlisted men if there is any question about their security clearance.

2,000 Wetbacks Rounded Up In One-Day Drive

EL CENTRO, Calif. (AP)—The roundup of wetbacks swung into its second day today with the first day's catch of more than 2,000 illegal immigrants termed "very successful."

Heralded for a week, "Operation Wetback" had 740 men checking farms and ranches, industrial areas, rail yards and bus stations for the job-seeking Mexican laborers who entered the United States unlawfully.

Seven planes scouted Southern California mountain and desert trails, spotting men on the move and radiong jeep and car crews.

If your feet resent walking on sunburned pavements, treat them gently. After bathing, spray on a soothing lotion and finish with talcum. Wear shoes that are designed to be airy (many are nearly all nylon mesh) and wear heels that are just a bit lower than those you wear the rest of the year.

6 Arrests 'Clear Up' Burglaries

City Detectives Friday corralled six Negro juveniles ranging in age from 12 to 16 years and said the arrests have possibly cleared up at least five burglaries and four thefts which occurred in Monroe during the past several weeks.

The six boys face juvenile action on charges that they looted Louisville curb market, 18th Street and Louisville; Cascio's Gulf Service station, 260 DeSiard; John's Trading Post, 2205 DeSiard; the Dairy Queen, 1618 DeSiard; and the Booker T. Washington grammar school.

In addition to the burglaries, police believe the youngsters are responsible for a series of thefts including approximately 20 gallons of kerosene from Taylor's service station, 1710 Louisville; two batteries from Continental Laboratories, 17th and Pine Streets; a quantity of copper from the city dump; and an unidentified bicycle.

The arrests were made by Major John B. Whitfield, city juvenile division, and Detective Captain H. B. Johnson.

Whitfield said the arrests brought partial recovery of the stolen articles.

Marshfield Enters 'Not Guilty' Plea In Narcotics Case

Artie Marshfield, being held in the Ouachita parish jail in lieu of $10,000 bond on counts of possessing and selling narcotics (marijuana), yesterday pleaded "not guilty" to both counts in Fourth district court. No date was set for trial.

A Monroe Negro, Willie Wright, pleaded guilty to possession of a narcotic drug (marijuana), after the charge was changed from "selling a narcotic drug," and was remanded for a pre-sentence investigation.

Both were picked up when members of the Louisiana state police, Monroe detective department and Ouachita parish sheriff department coordinated a drive to elliminate the illegal traffic of the drug. Marshfield was arrested Saturday night as he roamed the streets of Monroe in his Cadillac convertible.

The arrest of Wright came Monday night. According to officers the Negro confessed to the sale of narcotic cigarettes.

In other action, Judge Garrett sentenced Harold Puckett to three years at Angola on each of three counts. He pleaded guilty to theft of an automobile valued at $1,500 and two counts of simple burglary.

A Ward 6 Negro, Archie Williams, was acquitted of simple battery on another Negro, but fined $250 and costs of court and given a six months jail sentence after he pleaded guilty for selling alcoholic beverages in Ward 6, which is legally a dry area.

John E. Williams, remanded for sentence earlier on a charge of theft was given a six months sentence in the parish jail.

Also remanded was Oliver Lester Donaldson, who entered a plea of guilty on a forgery charge.

Not guilty pleas were also entered on the following:

Walter Wallace Frost, disturbing the peace, trial set for June 25; S. E. Scott, simple battery, June 25; Eric A. Rhodes two counts, theft, June 25; King Wright, Jr., simple battery, June 25; and Lee Roy Willis, theft, June 25.

Charles J. Carmouche, issuing worthless checks, June 25 and John Hugh Henry, operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicating liquors, June 25.

John Knighten, charged with simple escape, pleaded guilty and was remanded for sentence.

Cotton Letter

NEW YORK, June 18. — Thursday, June 24th has been announced as the first notice day for July. Liquidation in that month was rather heavy today with trade supporting on a scale down and limiting the decline to around 10 points.

A modest amount of deliveries is anticipated by the trade while expected demand for this certificated stock at this time is felt to be rather light. New crop months were quiet and slightly lower in sympathy with July liquidation.

The census bureau reported consumption from May 3rd to 29th at 645,875 bales vs. 660,209 in preceding period and 748,049 in the same period a year ago. A daily rate of 32,294, 33,564 and 37,402 bales respectively was shown.

Cotton in consuming establishments was 1,587,065 and in public storage 8,941,629 Consumption so far this season 7,256,856 bales compared with 7,940,948 to the same date last year.

Pink bollworm infestation is generally light in the lower Rio Grande Valley but boll weevil infestation is increasing in that area. Infestation is generally light in the coastal bend and upper coastal areas but is expected to increase later on.

F. O. A. allocated $5,032,000 to Korea and $200,000 to Israel for the purchase of cotton. Contracting period is June 23rd to September 30th with final delivery August 1st to October 31st.

The print cloth market turned active late yesterday as mills booked a million yards of 80 squares for the first quarter next year which is the first substantial yardage to move for this delivery.

Cotton

New York

NEW YORK, June 18 (AP)—Cotton futures closed unchanged to 50 cents a bale lower today.

The market was on the defensive, with old crop July liquidation and hedging in new crop months meeting mostly scale down trade support.

Distant October was independently steady during the early trading. This stemmed from action of the House Agriculture Committee approving 3,000,000 to 4,000,000 bales of set aside cotton as surplus which would not be used in figuring support prices. This would tend to hold the loan on the 1955 cotton crop at high levels, traders felt.

Evening up operations in nearby July and switching from that month to later deliveries were extensive, with first notice day coming up next Thursday.

The F.O.A. issued a cotton purchase authorization of $5,032,000 to Korea and $200,000 to Israel. Contracting period for the cotton is June 23-Sept. 30, with Aug. 1-Oct. 31 the delivery period.

The Census Bureau reported May cotton consumption totaled 645,875 running bales which was slightly above trade expectations of some 625,000 bales.

Building Charles For Return Bout Against Marciano

NEW YORK, June 18. (AP)—Plans for a September rematch between Heavyweight Champion Rocky Marciano and Ezzard Charles began to take shape today after New York state athletic commission physicians found that the battered Charles escaped serious injury in his courageous title bid against Marciano last night.

Fears that Charles might have taken too bad a beating to be available for another bout were quashed by the doctors, who said x-rays showed no broken bones.

Charles quickly dispelled any thoughts that he wouldn't be ready. "I know I'll be all right in 10 days," he said through puffed lips. His face still was swollen from the Rock's heavy blows and he wore a patch of tape above his right eye.

The champ, too, was scarred by the furious 15-round battle at Yankee Stadium. Dr. Vincent Nardiello of the commission scraped out old scar tissue and took 10 stitches in a deep gash over his left eye. Except for the patch above the eye, Marciano appeared unmarked by battle at a mid-afternoon press conference.

Charles first called off a meeting with the press and then arranged to visit the commission for x-rays by Dr. Ira McCown, medical adviser, and Dr. Alexander Schiff. They found him "entirely rational, cheerful and in no pain." Careful examination of the throat region revealed Charles had recovered completely from an injury to the laryn or voice box that was damaged by a Marciano blow sometime between the seventh and ninth rounds.

Jake Mintz and Tom Tannas, Charles' co-managers, talked of a "million dollar gate" for the rematch, on the basis of the ex-champ's remarkable showing.

Al Weill, Marciano's manager, and the champ were ready for another, provided Rocky's eye cuts have completely healed.

"If the eye is OK and I can get to training camp soon enough, I'll fight in September," said Marciano. He added that six weeks would be enough as he never again would go through such a long siege as he did for the Charles fight. He boxed 183 rounds since April 2 and had been considering a Don Cockell match in London. According to Weill, British Promoter Jack Solomons is expected to arrive soon to discuss the match.

If the match comes off, it probably will be staged at the Polo Grounds in New York, Sept. 23. The New York Yankees are home during the last week in September so their stadium would be unavailable. Anything later might conflict with the World Series and, of course, they will delay as long as possible to let old wounds heal.

Tribe Blanks Bosox, 2-0, On Garcia's Four-Hitter

CLEVELAND, June 19 (AP)—Mike Garcia hurled a four-hit shutout for Cleveland tonight as the Indians whipped Boston's Red Sox 2-0 for their ninth straight victory. The season's largest night crowd here, 23,706, watched the Tribe make it nine in a row over Boston.

Outfielder Larry Doby drove in Cleveland's first run in the first inning with the only base hit by either side during the first four frames. And Doby scored the Tribe's second run in the sixth by doubling and coming home on Vic Wertz's single.

Orioles Approve Possible League Expansion Move

BALTIMORE, June 18. (AP)—Stockholders in the Baltimore Orioles formally approved today possible expansion of the American League from eight to 10 members.

A spokesman said the Orioles were the last league team to approve the expansion which was voted by the owners last September when the franchise of the St. Louis Brown was transferred to Baltimore.

The National League also has amended its constitution to allow for such an eventuality. The west coast is viewed as the most likely locale for new members.

Suggs, Jameson Meet Today For Western Crown

WAUKEGAN, Ill., June 18 (AP)—Defending champion Louise Suggs, seeking an unprecedented fifth victory in the tournament, and veteran Betty Jameson, silver-haired Texan, will meet tomorrow in the 36-hole finals of the Women's Western Open.

Louise, who won the Western title in 1946, 1947, 1940 as well as last year, was four under par for the rolling, wooded Glen Flora course, for an easy 5 and 4 victory over Betty Hicks, Durham, N. C., in today's semi-finals.

Miss Jameson, displaying a deadly chipping game, upset Patty Berg 2 and 1 in the other semi-final. Betty won the Western Open in 1942, lost to Betsy Rawls 1-up in the 1952 finals and was beaten 5 and 4 by Miss Suggs in the championship match of 1949.

That 1949 finale was the last time Miss Suggs and Miss Jameson have met in match play competition.

Adcock Again Turned Down For Army Duty

PITTSBURGH, June 18. (AP)—First baseman Joe Adcock of the Milwaukee Braves said tonight he has been notified by his selective service board at Shreveport, La., that he has been rejected again for military service.

Adcock is the leading hitter among the Braves' regulars with a mark of .314

The first baseman, who took his physical examination several weeks ago, was rejected because of trick knees, an old basketball injury which previously had caused him to be rejected for military service.

Williams Returns To Practice At Fenway

BOSTON, June 18. (AP) — Ted Williams, the hard luck guy of Boston's hard luck Red Sox, took a squint at the sun today, received permission from his doctor and had a little workout at Fenway Park.

Williams hasn't had his baseball flannels on for two weeks because of a virus infection which threatened him with pneumonia.

Williams still has a pin in his left shoulder to support the collar bone he fractured March 1, ten minutes after he ran onto the spring training field at Sarasota, Fla.

Monroe Juniors Again Edged By Jonesboro 9

CHATHAM, La., June 18 (Special)—The Jonesboro American Legion Juniors again nipped the Monroe Juniors by one run here today, 4-3, with the winners' L. C. Crawford pitching and batting his team to the win.

The victory, in which the Jonesboro Juniors came from behind in the fifth, and tallied the winning run in the bottom of the final frame, gives them a six won, four lost mark in District Five play.

Coach Woody Boyles' Legion Buccaneers entertain the Farmerville Juniors here this afternoon at the Stadium in a 2:30 game.

The hard-hitting Farmerville Juniors, who handed the West Monroe nine their sole District Five defeat in their last Legion Field appearance, were originally slated to play Monroe Wednesday afternoon.

Monroe, which entered the tussle with an identical 5-3 record, now drops to a 5-4, .556 loop record.

With Monroe leading, 3-2, by virtue of their three runs in the top of the first, Crawford smashed a 400-foot homer in the fifth to knot the count. In the bottom of the seventh, Crawford led off with a single, took second on an error, and scored the winning marker on second-sacker Pipes' single.

Larry Reeves and Jeff Spence led the Monroe stick attack with three for four, and two for three respectively. Spence got the only extra base blow for the losers, a two-bagger.

Zulueta Gains Unanimous Nod Over Gonzalves

NEW YORK, June 18. (AP) — In the peace and quiet of Madison Square Garden, Orlando Zulueta used his talented left hand to jab his way to a unanimous decision over defensive - minded Johnny Gonsalves tonight in a 10-round bout between the two speedy lightweights. Zulueta weighed 134½, Gonsalves 134.

All three officials had the Cuban on top despite the brilliant punch-blocking tactics of Gonsalves, an Oakland, Calif, boy, who simply failed to throw enough punches.

ON COMEBACK TRAIL

NEW YORK, June 18. (AP)—Floyd Patterson, Brooklyn light heavyweight who lost a disputed decision to former champion Joey Maxim here June 7, will meet Jacques Royer of France in an 8-round bout at St. Nicholas Arena July 5.

Hogan 2 Strokes Off Pace; Snead 6 Blows Behind

By WILL GRIMSLEY

SPRINGFIELD, N. J., June 18 (AP) —The Billy Joe Patton bubble burst today and a phlegmatic freshman pro from the Pacific coast, Gene Littler, shot into the halfway lead of the National Open golf championship with a sub-par score of 139.

Littler, 1953 U. S. Amateur champion from San Diego, Calif., riveted a one-under-par 69 to his opening 70 and became the only player in the star-studded field to break Baltusrol's par for the two rounds. Par for the 7,027-yard layout is 70.

He took a two-strike lead over defending champion Ben Hogan, who complains his game has gone completely sour, and Ed Furgol, St. Louis, whose left arm is ten inches shorter than his right. Each shot 70 today for 141.

Patton, the brash, wisecracking lumberman from Morganton, N. C., the first amateur to lead the first round of the blue ribbon classic since Bobby Jones in 1929, could add no better than a 76, six over par, to yesterday's dramatic 69.

This gave him a total of 145 and placed him in a tie at that figure with Sam Snead, who experienced a mile blowup of his own.

Snead's always unpredictable putter failed him completely on the finishing holes where he took successive bogeys on the 14th, 15th and 16th. He missed three putts of under five feet.

The final two rounds are scheduled tomorrow and Hogan, the favorite who is seeking his fifth open championship, remarked glumly:

"I'm terrible, I'm awful. I've gotta do something before tomorrow. The way I'm scrambling I won't be able to hold up.

Snead said, "I putted like both my doggone arms was broke."

Tied at 143 were two former champions, Lloyd Mangrum and Cary Middlecoff, and two of the country's up - and - coming young pros, Dick Mayer, St. Petersburg, Fla., and Al Mengert, Spokane, Wash., now as assistant pro at Winged Foot, Mamaroneck, N. Y.

The leaders:

Gene Littler, Palm Springs, Calif. 70-69—139

Ben Hogan, Fort Worth, 71-70—141

Ed Furgol, Clayton, Mo. 71-70—141

Lloyd Mangrum, Niles, Ill. 72-71—143

Dick Mayer, St. Petersburg, Fla. 72-71—143

Al Mengert, Mamaroneck, N. Y., 71-72—143

School Segregation Ban Assailed By Bar Ass'n Head As Lacking Reason

BILOXI, Miss., June 18 (AP)—Jerome S. Hafter, president of the Mississippi Bar Association, said here today it was his opinion the Supreme Court's decision banning segregation in public schools was "not based on sound legal reasoning."

The Greenville attorney told members of the association at the annual convention "it is my opinion that the personnel of the U. S. Supremer Court has been influenced by newspapers, periodicals and pressure groups which have permeated the press."

"Many of these groups," he continued, "have argued that it is better to change our way of life in the South, and by so doing, our diplomats can say to the colored nations of the world that we welcome as our allies and consider them our social equals."

Hafter said the decision would aggravate racial conditions in Mississippi and "set progress back many years."

"The white and colored races in Mississippi have for many years established and lived under a very harmonious relationship," he said.

"It is sincerely hoped that the cool judgment of both races will cooperate to see that we do not revert to racial hatred and prejudice by the striking down of customs which have been acquiesced in and satisfactory to all Mississippians, white and colored."

Another speaker, William J. Jameson of Billings, Mont., president of the American Bar Association, said "we must recognize and protect the constitutional right of all, including Communists."

At the same time, he said, "We must not be blinded by the fact that if the Communist philosophy should prevail these constitutional rights would be lost forever."

Eggplant, not too common a dish in this country, is a tasty one and very easily prepared. You need only wash, pare and cube it, then cook from 15 to 20 minutes in boiling water. Have about one inch of water in the pot and cook with cover on.

British Reject U. S. Request To Search Vessels

LONDON, June 18—UP—Britain Friday rejected an American request to let U. S. warships search British ships on the high seas, and ordered the Royal Navy to do the policing of British vessels to prevent gun running to Guatemala.

The British action set the expected line for most maritime European nations which met the American request for standby powers with reaction ranging from coolly cautious to indignant. It appeared that only West Germany might agree to the U. S. plan.

A British foreign office spokesman pointedly underlined that Britain is prepared to police its own vessels and noted that Britain has been refusing to sell arms to the Communist - tinted Guatemalan government for several years.

Britain imposed an arms embargo on Guatemala in 1948 when that nation threatened to invade British Honduras. The new situation has made additional controls necessary, the spokesman said, but Britain does not want to police anyone else's ships and does not want anyone else policing British ships.

The foreign office issued a formal statement condemning any arms shipment to the Central American nation. It said the government had ordered the West Indies commander-in-chief to "take appropriate action where practicable if the carriage of arms is suspected."

It promised that Britain would cooperate to the fullest extent possible under British and international law to prevent British ships from gun running to Guatemala.

$500,000 Loss As Armour Plant In Chicago Burns

CHICAGO, June 18 (AP)—A fiery threat to Packingtown—the meat processing section of Chicago's huge stockyards area—was ended by firemen today after a three-hour struggle.

The fire broke out in a five-story Armour & Co. animal food plant on the west side of the yards district. The plant was turned into a charred ruin. The loss was placed at $500,000.

But hundreds of firemen, sweating in the heat of the fire and the torrid day, kept the blaze from spreading to other structures and stores of gas and chemicals.

At the peak of the fire tongues of flame and smoke licked up 150 feet in the air. The smoke could be seen for miles in any direction from the stockyards on the South Side.

Thirty-five workers were on duty in the animal food plant when the fire started, but all of them escaped.

The cause of the fire was not determined.

An eight million dollar fire roared through parts of the stockyards in May 1934.

In 1952 the Detroit River carried 116,550,000 tons of freight, the St. Marys Falls Canal at Sault Ste. Marie 106,550,000 tons and the Mississippi River 77,584,556 tons.

Facists And Reds Gaining Strength In Italy

BILOXI, Miss. (AP)—A veteran Associated Press foreign correspondent said today that Italy may become a major problem to her Western allies and American democracy in the next five years.

Stan Swinton, chief of the AP Rome bureau, told the annual convention of the Mississippi Press Association that lack of aggressive leadership by the center parties is resulting in a strengthening of the Communist left and the Fascist right.

"Italian communism through control of the bulk of the trades unions remains an even greater danger than its numerical strength would indicate," said Swinton, who is on home leave.

"The majority of Italians support the democratic parties. The Christian Democrats, the party now in power, have shown some gains in local elections recently. However, the grave danger is that the middle of the road democrats will remain complacent and not take aggressive steps to solidify their positions."

Prime Minister Mario Scalba announced a series of anti-Communist measures and also promised to push through ratification of the European Defense Community treaty when he first took office, Swinton said.

"None of these measures—all of them widely heralded in America—has actually been accomplished," Swinton said.

He said the Italian people "gradually are becoming disillusioned with democratic processes. More and more in Italy you hear Italian friends speak nostalgically of the Mussolini era.

"I heard one of the wisest diplomats stationed in Italy predict three weeks ago that unless the forces of Democracy begin moving fast that in another 10 years Italy might be the site of a repetition of the Spanish civil war.

"The Communists might be aided by Russia. The anti-Communist forces might well have American backing," Swinton said.

He termed Italy one of the major Soviet targets in Europe and said Russia is spending more than 50 million dollars a year to the local Communists.

At the same time, he said, the U. S. is reducing aid to Italy.

Swinton said there has been a lot of unfounded criticism of Ambassador Claire Boothe Luce. He called Mrs. Luce "an effective and hard working representative of the American people" and said she deserves a tremendous amount of credit for what she has done to counteract Soviet influence.

Swinton offered the following recommendations for preventing Italy from slipping toward totalitarism:

1. Aggressive leadership by the center parties to improve the lot of the Italian people and persuade them they have a stake in democracy.

2. Courageous action against the Communists and Fascists, particularly implementation of the pledge to throw them out of government owned buildings now at their disposal in some places.

3. Quick approval of the European Defense Community treaty.

Swinton predicted that unless these steps were taken Italy may swing back to right wing dictatorship — a dictatorship which the powerful Communist movement would challenge so powerfully that strife would erupt in the historic land.

"Italy has been one of America's best friends in Europe since the war . . . It would be a tragedy if we waited too long to appreciate the dangers there."

Turner Catledge, managing editor of The New York Times, was scheduled to address the group tonight.

Queen And Duke Narrowly Escape Serious Mishap

ASCOT, England, June 18 (AP)—A sagging phone wire loomed unexpectedly at the throats of Queen Elizabeth II and the Duke of Edinburgh as they galloped horses here today. But they ducked and kept their royal heads.

"We were nearly all decapitated," Elizabeth said gaily.

Her husband, who was slightly ahead, had called a warning as he leaned low in the saddle to avoid the hazard.

"Did you hear me shout when I saw that wire?" he asked.

"I saw you duck," she replied with a smile, "and I did the same."

The scene was the Ascot race course, before the opening of the day's racing.

The wire was a cable from a starting gate to a telephone truck which had been blown down in the night and stretched like a wire that guerrillas rig to cut off the heads of mounted foes.

Only a few blue-blooded friends and some race course workmen witnessed the narrow escape.

F. D. Perkins, who was working on the tote board, was among those watching as the Queen, Duke and some lords and ladies visiting at nearby Windsor Castle rode over the course.

"When the party was cantering back after the first gallop someone said 'good morning' and smiled up to us and we suddenly realized it was the Queen," Perkins recalled.

"We raised our hats and said 'good morning' and watched. As the party was galloping past us a second time, the Duke suddenly ducked, shouted, and looked back to the Queen. The Queen went flat on her horse.

"Had the Duke not shouted his warning, there might have been a serious accident. When the Duke of Gloucester, who was only trotting, came along he had to raise the wire with his hand to ride under it."

The Queen, in a yellow silk scarf, tweed riding jacket and fawn jodhpurs, did not seem at all upset.

A few hours later she was in the royal box in a cream silk frock to cheer her colt Landau to an easy victory in the Rous Memorial stakes.
